Election Day is Tomorrow: Harris County Voters Encouraged to Plan Ahead

(HOUSTON, TX) – Election Day for the Tuesday, November 3, 2026, General and Special Elections is tomorrow. Harris County voters will cast ballots in federal, state, and local races, including contests for the U.S. Senate, U.S. House of Representatives, county offices, and other local positions. The contests appearing on each ballot depend on the voter's registered address.

"Harris County voters have already made history with record-breaking early voting turnout," said Harris County Clerk Teneshia Hudspeth. "As we approach Election Day, we encourage voters to make a plan, review their sample ballot, and arrive prepared. With as many as 100+ contests on the ballot, a little preparation can make a big difference in ensuring a smooth voting experience."

More than 600 Vote Centers will be open across Harris County on Election Day from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Registered voters may cast their ballots at any Vote Center in the county, regardless of their residential precinct.

Voters are encouraged to visit HarrisVotes.com or download the free Harris Votes app, available on iOS and Android, to review their personalized sample ballot, locate a Vote Center, check wait times, and access important election information.

Important Reminder: Under Texas law, the use of cell phones and other wireless communication devices is prohibited inside the room where voting takes place. Recording audio or images is also prohibited within 100 feet of a voting station. Voters should review their sample ballots in advance and silence and store their devices before checking in to vote.
